Council Plan Improving Town Hall Property

Will Seek Prices Regarding Installation of Up-to-date Fire Alarm System, Lavatory Accommodation, Etc., for Hall to be Gone Into.

Following is a record of the proceedings of the council of the Town of Wainwright at its regular meeting on Tuesday, the 17th day of November.

The members of council present at this meeting were Mayor Middams and Councillors Huntingford, Robinson, Cork, Lismore, Alderman and Stafford.

The recorded proceedings of council at its regular meeting of November 3rd were read and, on motion by Councillor Huntingford, were adopted and confirmed as written.

Mrs. Anita McNeilly wrote council requesting an allowance of $12.00 for certain articles of furniture and, on motion by Councillor Huntingford, the Town Constable was instructed to look into this matter and to report back to the council in this regard.

The Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton wrote further, relative to accounts of that hospital against the late W.J. Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds, and on motion by Councillor Huntingford, the secretary-treasurer was instructed to write the said hospital with a view of arranging some mutual satisfactory settlement of these accounts.

On motion by Councillor Alderman, the secretary-treasurer was instructed to write the Councillors of the V.Y.R. and the Sea Cadets expressing the thanks of the Mayor and council for their good work and co-operation with the police in keeping such good order on Halloween night.

In reply to a communication from the Old Age Pension Board, it was resolved, on motion by Councillor Alderman, that the communication re Mr. W. H. Tansley be accepted and filed and that his original application for Old Age Pension be approved.

The University of Alberta Hospital at Edmonton wrote further in connection with the account of that hospital against Mr. Charles Johnson for hospital treatment, and on motion by Councillor Cork, the matter was referred to the Town Solicitor for legal opinion and the matter left in the hands of the secretary-treasurer to negotiate a settlement.

On motion by Councillor Huntingford, it was resolved that the Finance Committee be authorized to sanction the leasing of cheques in favor of the Wainwright School District No. 1681 and the Wainwright Roman Catholic Separate School District No. 31, in the amounts found payable to these school districts under the 1942 set up and to include the amounts of these cheques in its next financial report to council.

On motion by Councillor Lismore, the secretary-treasurer was instructed to write the owner of Lot 11 in Block T, Plan 6445 V, that council requires him from and after January 1st, 1943 to pay monthly the sum of $25 on account of arrears of taxes until all arrears are paid.

On motion by Councillor Stafford, it was unanimously resolved that By-Law Number 293 be then given its third reading at this meeting, that it be assigned its title as in the original motion, that it be finally passed and that the Mayor and secretary-treasurer be authorized and instructed to sign the said by-law and to attach thereto the Corporate Seal of the Town of Wainwright.

By-Law Number 293 was then read the third time and was finally passed.

On motion by Councillor Lismore, the Property and Assessment Committee were authorized to obtain prices, etc., with a view of installing a modern toilet and lavatory in the Town Hall.

On motion by Councillor Cork, the secretary-treasurer was instructed to write Hurie Limited, Toronto, Ont., for the price on an electric siren to be used as a fire alarm, and also to write the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for permission to purchase installation material.

On motion, council was regularly adjourned.

Canadian Legion Boys Express Their Thanks

The President, Executive Committee, and members of the Wainwright Branch of the Canadian Legion, wish to express heartfelt thanks to all who co-operated so splendidly to make our Remembrance Day such a success. Our thanks are especially due to the Wainwright Branch for free publicity, to Mr. Brunner for the kind donation of the theatre, to the Town Board, and to the clergymen of our town who conducted the Memorial Service.

We are very grateful, too, to the good ladies who in spite of cold and snow sold the poppies on the streets, and to the generous public who again so wonderfully responded to the appeal.

Rebekahs Open Their Card Party Season

A very pleasant evening was spent last Thursday at the I.O.O.F. hall when the members of Adeline Rebekah Lodge arranged their first Military Whist party for the winter season.

Quite a number of tables were in play under the direction of Mr. L. Mitchell, and at the close the prize-winners were announced to be: Mrs. A. Moan, Mrs. H. Schult, Mrs. B. Davidson, Mrs. W. Huntingford, Mrs. Mitchell, and Mrs. Branchflower.

Following cards a social hour was spent and a committee of the lodge members served a delicious lunch.

Country Farm Home Complete Loss By Fire

On Sunday morning last, the farm home of Mrs. G. Morrisette, south of Greenhead, near Parsons Lake, was completely gutted by fire about 7:30 a.m.

From information to hand, it appears that Mrs. Morrisette, who has lived alone since the death of Mr. Morrisette just over a year ago, arose about seven o'clock, and made a fire in the kitchen stove. Feeling somewhat unwell from cold, she laid down again and must have dozed off, for upon waking she found the place full of smoke. She immediately attempted to phone for help, but apparently the connections had been destroyed by the fire, and help by this means was unavailing.

She managed to salvage her fur coat and her legal papers but had then to get out quickly owing to the spread of the fire through the house.

Neighboring farmers in the persons of Newton Hill and Lloyd Haynes saw the flames and rushed to the place but nothing could be done then to stem the flames, and they were quickly followed by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Daniels, who having seen the blaze from their farm some three and a half miles away, hastened to the place and tried to contain the fire.

Fortunately the garage and car, and other buildings close by did not catch fire.

Mrs. Morrisette, who was suffering from the excitement and shock was conveyed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Haywood, where she is being cared for.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The marriage of Florence Isabella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Armstrong of Ottawa, formerly of Wainwright, to John McMahon, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John McMahon of Montreal, has been arranged to take place December 5th.

Florence will carry an ivory covered prayer book, given her by St. Thomas A.Y.P.A. on the occasion of her departure from Wainwright.

HELEN MAGILL

Housing Shortage In Towns, Listed

Alberta cities and towns where an acute housing situation exists, are listed as Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Camrose, Grande Prairie, Drumheller, Grande Prairie and Red Deer.

Military concentrations and development of war industries in Canadian cities and towns have caused the housing problem. Throughout Canada these centres are listed by the Real Property Administrator, Wartime Prices and Trade Board as subject to a survey to be made to obtain all available housing accommodation in each centre.

Mr. D. Bakker and his son David were trippers to the city last week.

Further Appeals Made Sailors' Ditty Bags

The regular meeting of the local W.I. held at the home of Mrs. B. Davidson on Nov. 12th, saw a good attendance of members and some visitors.

The committee in charge of these reported four more quilts and a donated blanket ready, as well as sweaters and jackets and ditty bags, these being for the men of the merchant marine.

It is particularly requested that anyone having articles for more ditty bags get in touch at once with Mrs. Carrell.

Silver tea money to the amount of $15.00 was handed in, and this will be used for wool for knitting. The Jam for Britain fund to date amounts to $82.00, which includes a special donation of $4.50 from Rose Willoughby.

Mrs. W. Brunner entertained with talk on the Merchant Marine, and was the fortunate winner of the gift for the day.

At the close a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Brunner.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. Stuart on Dec. 10th, when an annual election of officers will take place.

Provincial Patrols Have Fine Record

Work of school boy patrols has been an important feature of classroom education in many schools of the province, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

The provincial body has given full encouragement to the establishment of these patrols. Co-operation also has been given by trustees boards and police authorities.

Edmonton patrol has a record that is unsurpassed on the continent. It has been reported since the patrols were inaugurated four years ago, there has not been a motor car accident involving a school child travelling to or from school.

To Constable W. Crawford, of the Edmonton city police, has gone much credit for the efficiency of the patrol system in the capital city.

The youths when acting as patrol and guiding groups of children across street intersections near schools, show extreme diligence in carrying out their duties and look after the younger children with great care.

The co-operation of motorists in making the work of the patrols effective and reducing accident hazards also has won commendation.

May Ask Soldiers To Work in Mines

EDMONTON—Utilization of Alberta miners now in military training camps to work in mines to relieve Alberta's acute coal shortage has been suggested to federal authorities, it was announced Wednesday.

Walter S. Campbell, regional administrator for the Wartime Prices Board, here, said he had learned there were many such miners now in military camps. He believed their temporary release to work in the mines would do much to relieve the coal situation.

Meanwhile Edmonton coal dealers said that only through the absence of sub-zero weather during the next several days can a serious situation be averted in the city. The dealers are as much as three weeks behind with deliveries and are flooded with orders from householders and business blocks running dangerously short of coal.

Coal shortages have been reported from various parts of the province.

Edmonton-Wainwright Bus To Continue Except On Wednesdays & Sundays

The 50-mile limit which was placed on bus traffic by Federal Transit Controller G. S. Gray, went into effect at the beginning of last week, although the blizzard of the first few days closed out the traffic anyway for a day or so.

According to the Alberta Highway Traffic Board, very few exemptions from the order were allowed but among these was the one granted to Sunburst Motor Coaches, which company operates the line between Wainwright and Edmonton. This transportation system is granted permission to continue to operate this run as usual, with the stipulation that no bus is to run on Wednesdays and Sundays.

We are indeed pleased that the powers that be took a sane view of the appeals submitted by the Town's Mayor, the Board of Trade, and a number of other bodies along this line, to continue the service in the best interests of those along the route to the city.

Had the bus been discontinued it would without doubt have caused great hardship to a majority of the people between the two terminals, and been a great inconvenience to our worthy service men and women who use this means of visiting their relatives on camp leave.

It would have meant a higher cost to travel and a higher consumption of gasoline and rubber.

Change is Urged In Municipal Act

CALGARY—A change in the Municipal Districts act to prevent the recurrence of a situation where an unqualified person might be elected to office was recommended in a resolution passed at the 34th annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts held here last week.

The recommendation is for a statement by the district secretary-treasurer to accompany nomination papers stating the nominee is not indebted for more than two years' taxes or has made satisfactory arrangements for consolidation of tax arrears. Another section of the act provides that a person may not be elected to office if more than two years' taxes are owing.

It was pointed out that a case arose recently where the nomination was accepted of a man who owed more than two years' taxes. If he had been elected, it would have taken his election to court decision to upset his election.

The change is intended to safeguard a returning officer from accepting the nomination of an unqualified person.

Another 'Scrap of Paper' Makes History

In one of the latest BBC broadcasts in "London Calling Europe" it was mentioned that the Norwegian Government in London is financially independent owing to the fact that 90% of Norwegian merchant shipping was requisitioned in time and saved from confiscation by the rapacious "occupiers" of Norway. The requisitioning decree and order "to make for British ports" was written, in pencil, on a page torn from a notebook, during the hours when the Oslo Government was organizing the last resistance on their own soil. It was at once radioed to all Norwegian ships.

This document has not only historic but intrinsic importance because it "made available to the United Nations one of the finest merchant fleets in the world." In Great Britain there are now 23,000 Norwegian merchant sailors. The document is at present preserved in London.

Owing to poor visibility from the cab of his light delivery truck, Elgin Knott suffered injuries last week when he drove into the side of a loaded gravel truck at the corner of Fifth and King. He is now convalescing in the hospital.

MORE ENLISTMENTS DURING PAST WEEK

Among those from this district who have joined up with the Canadian Active Army during the past week are Jerome Aquila Vert, of Paradise Valley, Thomas Henry Casey Jones, of Heath, Albeny Edward Hill, of Greenhead, and Rowland Russell McCormick of Edgerton.

Belgians Spread Despondency

Hitler's efforts to recruit workers from the occupied countries for the Nazi slave-labor in Germany have not yet reached the direct compulsory stage in Belgium as they have in France, though they are heading that way. Belgian towns are plastered with notices inviting the workers, in persuasive terms, to go to Germany to work.

Belgians, however, have evolved an indirect form of reply, addressed direct to the German people. They have printed leaflets, in the German language, which read to this effect: "A Belgian who goes to work in Germany releases a German for the Russian front; that is to say, he sends one more German to death."

The Belgians manage to slip a number of these into the pockets of German soldiers in the Army of Occupation. It must be something of a shock to the Germans to find these in their pockets to reflect on the aged motto of the message: that the more Belgians they come to go against the frontier the more their numbers will go to their death.

Edmonton Ration Officer Resigns

EDMONTON—Resignation of R. M. Montague rationing officer here for the wartime price board, because of ill health, is announced by Walter S. Campbell, regional administrator for the board. He has been succeeded by C. G. McKee, formerly rationing officer at Calgary, who has been appointed supervisor of the rationing boards for the Northern Alberta district.

More Big Units For Municipalities

"In the light of the experience of the existing large units and in view of the fact that these units have exceeded our expectations, we have an alternative but to continue with our program," Hon. L. Maynard, minister of municipal affairs for Alberta, told delegates to the 34th annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts, held last week in Calgary.

The minister dealt at length with the entire question of the organization of larger municipal units, defending his department's action up to date as being the only course that could have been followed because of the government's 1940 election platform which included revision of municipal boundaries.

Severe criticism of the provincial government in this field has been forthcoming from municipal men throughout the province, and particularly from the executive of the municipal association.

Members of the executive label the manner in which the change has proceeded as being undemocratic and advance the argument that the move should have been made only after a plebiscite had been taken.

As a basis for the presentation of the whole review of this question Hon. Mr. Maynard used both the report submitted by the executive of the municipal executive and the report published by the municipal department, both summaries made after survey work had been done throughout the province.

Both reports, he pointed out, agreed that the present setup was inadequate, but disagreed in the manner of procedure.

The units already set up, he asserted, would be given ample time to prove their own worth and no further move would be made to organize more of them until the end of the present year when more information would be forthcoming from these now re-organized.

A number of the delegates from the larger units reported satisfaction with the way in which the change was working out, but several of those from other areas expressed the fear that a municipality that was in good shape was going to be asked to bear the load for poorer areas.

Approximately 200 delegates gathered for the convention, and delegates were welcomed by his worship, Mayor Davidson, and by Herbert Greenfield of the Calgary Board of Trade.

Paul H. Farnelle of Halkirk, association president, was chosen convention chairman.

New Links With Alaska Highway

Official opening of the 1,800 mile U.S. highway to Alaska on Nov. 20 has drawn interest to Alberta links with this new road, which is expected to play a major part in the rapid development of the northwest.

Alberta now is linked by means of a highway running from Grand Prairie to the Peace River block by way of Peace Coulee and Dawson Creek, on the south side of the Peace River. This winter a road will be open from Hines Creek, on the north side of the river, to Fort St. John, it is learned. This will be available after freeze-up, when it will be possible to make river crossings.

The Trans-Canada highway, completion of which is scheduled shortly, also will link with the Alaska highway, in the opinion of Hon. T. B. McQueston, minister of highways for Ontario.

Thus, a new highway picture is unfolding, showing Alberta in a key position and making the interests of motorists all the more important in this province.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Mr. D. Sullivan of Edmonton, Inspector of High Schools, visited the school on Friday, November 20. Mr. Angus MacKie, returned missionary from India, gave a talk to the eleven and twelve classes on his experiences in India. He was a guest of Rev. Wilson and spoke in the period set aside for religious instruction. Miss Elaine Gaudet suffered a ruptured appendix and underwent an operation last week. We wish her a speedy recovery.

PLAY SANTA TO SERVICE BOYS

Right now Christmas seems a long way off. We have not yet reached the "no many shopping days" left stage, although they will soon enough be upon us. On the other hand, toy departments are already getting fresh coats of paint and fresh supplies of toys. And this is as it should be, for toys are one of the things that make Christmas what it is. It may not be the same glorious, carefree Christmas of old, still it is Christmas, and that is what counts.
Christmas with all its home-joys, meant a lot to a British merchant sailor, referred to in the news only as Jim. When his ship was torpedoed he didn't think of himself, but of two second-hand dolls and a bundle of clothes—the best Christmas presents he had been able to find for his little girl. He tied them to a lifebelt, with a note reading "To Joan from Daddy", and threw them over the side.
The lifeboats by this time were pulling away from the sinking ship, so he jumped after the drifting lifebelt.
But he never came up.

Take a look around the toy-shops today, before the real Christmas rush starts. Notice the soldiers, sailors and airmen selecting toys—as if they were making the most important purchases of their lives. And, in fact, they are. Where they may be when Christmas dawns no one knows. But wherever they are, if everyone lends his money to the limit for Victory, we can be sure these soldiers, sailors and airmen will be on the road to Victory and happier Christmas—at home with their families, wives and children.

wasteful and useless practice that should be abolished or at least greatly curtailed.

Sensible answers to such people are provided in the Retailers' Bulletin, an official publication of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The Bulletin states simply that if the production of particular goods or services is permitted then it is permissible to assist their sales by using advertising media within the few regulations set forth by the Government. Moreover, the Bulletin outlines the following ways in which advertising may contribute to the stabilization of business and the economical distribution of goods and services:

"Informing customers of the effect of Government regulations upon purchasing."

"Giving current information regarding available goods to prevent panic buying or hoarding due to rumors or temporary shortages."

"Interpreting priority or simplified practices ruling by giving reasons for rationing, limitations of supply, reduced deliveries or other curtail-ments of service."

"Guiding the buying public quickly to available perishable goods or other goods in plentiful supply."

The Bulletin further makes clear that merchants may advertise comparative prices in order to move perishable, put-of-season stock or bracket ranges of stock which are offered at special prices. Such advertising is helpful to organized commerce, although it should not encourage unnecessary buying, nor stimulate the desire to hoard.

Concludes the Bulletin:

"Until peacetime conditions are restored, advertising will find many new and different functions to perform urging customers to restrict their choices to what is rather than to choose and to spend, educating the public to more economical and fuller use of available commodities, informing consumers of the facts behind the elimination of 'trills from new standardizations and simplified products, etc."—Ottawa Journal

EARLY SHOPPING

PATRIOTIC GESTURE

If you're going to resolve to do your Christmas shopping early this year—and then, as in previous years, break your resolution and join the last-minute shoppers—you're going to be mighty sorry.

Merchants suggest that to save in copious quantities the wear and tear on nerves, the shopworn and overworked slogan, "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early," should be considered with deepest earnestness this season. They even argued it was a patriotic duty.

They base their arguments on two principal factors which make wartime Christmas shopping expeditions a serious business.

The sales force of most stores has been cut by enlistments and the draft and employees taking higher paid jobs in war industries.

Many stores normally employ temporary workers during the Yuletide, but there are many concerns having difficulty finding sufficient help. High school and college students may be recruited for temporary positions.

Shoppers must take into consideration the fact that there will be many inexperienced sales persons and less efficient service in many stores.

The transportation difficulties which will add a burden to the shoppers who delay early buying will result from the gasoline rationing, although regular service will be increased. The stores also will be confronted with the problem of making increased deliveries under the Government program of saving tires, gasoline, and manpower.

"Distribution to retail stores has announced there will be sufficient of goods but early shoppers' will fare best."

This chart reveals the distribution over the prairie provinces of wheat crops which contained bad mixtures all as shown by some 12,000 tests of growing crops made by the "Crop Testing Plan" this summer. The map are charged with the good work of improving the prairie wheat crop.
It has been said time and time again

farmer can take that will no increase his income as the elimination of mixtures of poor varieties from his crop.
This can easily and inexpensively be done by the use each year, of a few bushels of good Registered and Certified seed, preferably sealed in the sack. The wheat crops containing bad mixtures this year amount to 11.3%, a considerable improvement over 1936 when crops containing mixtures formed no less than 22.8% of the total, and a very considerable improvement over 1931, the first year of the "Crop Testing Plan" when no less than 24% of all wheat crops were shown to consist of such bad mixtures.

British Winter Weather Proves Least Of War Horrors

By Margaret Butcher

READING, ENGLAND—Well here is winter, and no mistake; and with the best will in the world I just cannot enjoy our winters. I have never been able to understand folk who grow lyrical about them; as a small child, I remember, I used to feel that one ought to enjoy the Christmas card pictures of ice and snow; but even then, my mind thrust away visions of chilblains and chilly bedrooms.

Perhaps, one of these days, we shall have really sensible pictures on our greeting cards. Lovely hot-water bottles making a great part of the composition, and neat little couplets about the joys of central heating.
Instead of the usual nonsense about nothing in particular.

Perhaps, indeed, when this was over somebody will start building small houses on a humane plan, and install just the merest hint of imagination into those local gent who get round a table and decide what shall,
and shall not, be built; who decreed that every house in this road should have its best room—with French windows—turned to the north-east.
Who also did not think of giving us a cupboard to blow ourselves with,
and who put the grate in my front room in the corner, and in such a position that—short of making a hole in the wall and projecting a portion of oneself over the garden stretch—
it is impossible to sit on the right-hand side of it. Wonderful, isn't it?

Mostly Half Frozen

So I am half frozen most of the time, thanks to these cunning wags;
and outside my window there is a deep valley, white with snow, and snow on the hills beyond, with the trees and hedges showing smoky brown. Last night there was another fall; and for three days I have worked at home, with frequent journeys across to the post office; for I really cannot venture on the bicycle with a glazy road under me. And now my voice has entirely disappeared, thanks to the cold; so that looks like more scrambling to post.

If you get complaints from our Canadian boys about the weather, don't think they are attempting a quaker sort of humor. They are just thinking what I have thought for years—that it contrives to be a lot colder over here, temperature or no temperature. But there is one grand thing: the days are getting longer. I do not set out now with my lamp alight, riding into the sunrise, and then coming back with the last gleam of sunset.

It's when the light begins to return that we realize how supplying the blackout has been. I suppose that, down underneath, there is a sense of groping and frustration, all through the winter. And now, before long, there will be evenings on the Albion, I hope. It is a melancholy right now a flat white stretch with a few rows of frigid looking green stew showing through; and, of course, the pergola arrangement which the Gardening Partner, with a terrible amount of sawing and hammering, put up last week. It is intended for the encouragement, later on, of certain loganberries; but, with his customary optimism, he remarks:
"I dare say the March gales will bring the whole lot down." And who am I to contradict him?

Completely Winter Tamed
Downstairs there is a blackbird hoping around, completely wintertamed. It does not even bother to get out of the way when one walks down the path to the gate, and it goes into the kitchen for scraps, right under the nose of the old cat.
I do not see it this morning, but I trust that the old cat did not go back on parole.

There has most certainly been a truce of some kind between them.
One is intrigued, somehow, by the idea of a truce between enemies—in a world which seems to be seething with enemies of the most deadly kind. Animals, at least, obviously possess some sound sense and idea of fair play. I do not suspect the cat of offering Protection—as a prelude to gobbling. It is either a case of tacit understanding, or a little matter of "Well, take a chance on it if you like, old chap—but look out for yourself." Some folks have a lot to learn from animals.

My good friend the doctor has just popped in and pronounced "Acute Laringitis"—which sounds very grand for a female who can't speak above a whisper. And no bicycling over the hills and dale; for at least a week;
so now we know where we are, don't we? There was something very surprising in the way I greeted him at the front door; the landlady—
she caught anything of our husky murmurs—must have thought it extremely odd. I'm sure, Now I shall have to try to rope in somebody to run down to the chemist, and get what we come up against more of our difficulties, for things don't get delivered nowadays.

No More Repairs
Last week, by some evil mischance, both my watches went wrong, and it is quite impossible to get watches mended in the shops. They have put up notices, most of them, to that effect.

This is Navy Week

All Must Give Aid

Forty eight thousand Canadian sailors, and other thousands of the Merchant Marine, through foul and fair weather, through the terrible dangers of the sea and lurking U-boat, keep the life lines of the United Nations open, and carry the munitions and food to the armies that will bring Victory for democracy.

These men give unselfishly of their service, to the Nation so that the way of life that we have enjoyed—the way of life which our forefathers have bequeathed to us—is maintained.
They suffer tremendous hardship, face perils that would daunt the hardest spirit, and yet at the call of duty they go down to the sea in ships
many of them never to return.

This week is Navy Week, and we are celebrating the deeds accomplished by the Canadian Navy. We are paying tribute to the sacrifice they have made and continue daily to make so that freedom may reign throughout the earth.

And you are asked to help the men of Canada's Navy. The men who go daily on the great waters in the little uncomfortable ships, daring ships that have faced high hazard and have met desperate ends, and have done their job with a courage and devotion of which even Nelson would be proud.

Week by week little ships, destroyers, corvettes and minesweepers, are slipping down the ways that lead to battle on great waters. Always there have been men waiting to man these ships. In place of the 2,000 men of the Canadian Navy at the outbreak of the war there are now 48, 000 men in the Navy.

These men of the sea man, the ships that are the greatest weapons against U-boats. The thrilling story of the many victories of Canadian corvettes over German under-seas craft has thrilled us all. Let us all thrill the men of our Navy by subscribing as liberally as possible to the Navy League of Canada's Christmas Fund.

The Navy League of Canada, charged with the responsibility of supplying comforts to the men of the Navy and Merchant Marine, is taking a leading part in a campaign being carried out in connection with Navy Week to appeal to the people of Canada to donate as liberally as possible so that comforts can be sent to every man in the Merchant Marine and the Navy this Christmas.

An objective of 100,000 ditty bags
has been set by the Navy League.
These bags will contain woolen articles, toilet articles, candies, razor blades, and many other articles that are indispensable to the comfort of these heroes of the sea.

You can help by sending a donation to the secretary of the League at Edmonton, or by making your donation through the chartered bank in your district.

FARM NOTES

STORING GLADIOLUS CORMS

(Science Service News)

In most parts of Canada, gladiolus corms have been dug and are now in storage for the winter months. It is best to remove the tops by cutting them off at the neck or two above the corms as soon as they are dug. If the tops are left on for later topping and cleaning, thrrips may be carried into storage on the tops and will eventually work their way down the stem to feed on the corms, state officials of the Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture. The corms should be carefully dried, and after the soil has been shaken off placed in storage. Some growers do not remove the husk at all, which is sound practice so long as the corms come from a disease-free plantation.

If at all possible, the corms should be stored in a cool place at a temperature of from 35-40 degrees F. This will check thrrips development. If this temperature can be maintained for a period of two or three months it will kill all stages of the insects.

Should fumigation with naphthalene be necessary it is best to carry this out early in the winter to allow plenty of time for the corms to air for at least a month after treatment. Otherwise, growth will be retarded in the spring. If the corrosive sublimate method is to be used this can well be delayed until spring and should be carried out just before planting. The same applies to the treatment with hot water. By delaying treatment until the spring, drying of the corms prior to re-sorting will not then be necessary.

Whether thrrips were known to be present in the garden during the past summer or not, it is a wise precaution to treat all corms sometime prior to next spring. This will take relatively little time and may save much heartache next summer when the spikes are beginning to break. The danger of contaminating neighbouring gardens by planting untreated corms should also be borne in mind when deciding whether or not to destroy the thrrips during the period of storage.

HEALTH

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

GIVE YOU ZIP!

Daily as fruits and vegetables ascend in price we must take stock of our needs in every family. The baby needs her orange juice and the other children as well as Mother and Dad need their Vitamin C too.

Vitamin C is absolutely necessary to the body for the maintenance of strong bones and healthy teeth. It is a definite preventive of infection. Many people who complain of pain in the joints lack Vitamin C.

The sources of this valuable unit are not numerous. First on the list are the citrus fruits—oranges, grape fruit and lemons. Then come cold canned tomatoes and raw cabbage. Much lower down the scale we find potatoes, (baked or boiled in their skins, then come peaches, apples and pears.

LOW COST... DELICIOUS!

SUSIE'S LAYER CAKE

1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk

Cream butter and sugar; add well beaten eggs and beat again with butter and sugar till very light. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add to first mixture alternately with milk. Beat lightly for about 1 minute. Put into greased layer cake pans and bake 15 to 20 minutes.

To insure the good health of the family this winter include one serving of cold canned tomatoes in the diet every day, if oranges or grapefruit are beyond your means. Serve as baked or boiled potatoes in their jackets and do not neglect that family friend, the cabbage. Serve a salad of chopped raw cabbage and carrots at least twice a week and more often if possible.

We could, of course, go back to the Indian days and make a brew of pine needles to prevent scurvy, but today with our knowledge of what constitutes a well-rounded diet, there is no necessity for this or any other disease resulting from a low fruit or vegetable diet.

Certainly eat all the apples and other native fruits you can stow away because they're good for you; but remember, they will not give you the vitamin C that cold canned tomatoes contain—(1/4 cup of tomatoes equals 3 large apples or 6 large pears).

Be modern, eat Fruits and Vegetables for Health and get that extra Zip out of life!

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

—WHAT ABOUT NEXT

YEAR'S CROP?

Many farmers are worrying about the agricultural policy for next year. On August 1st last there will be left over large quantities of wheat, and coarse grains on farms and in elevators. Some suggest that no acreage on the prairies should be seeded, and that all farming families should be maintained for a year by the State. For my part I think this is wrong. The Axis countries suffer from a lack of food but Providence has given us an abundance. We should accept it with thankfulness and not try deliberately to decrease Nature's bounty. So I for one suggest that we should sow this next spring the same acreage that was seeded last spring. Far far better to have too much food in wartime, even though it creates some problems, than to run the risk of a scarcity which we might have if one or two drought years occur again on this Continent.

Nobody knows how much additional grain will be exported to Spain, Portugal, Russia, Turkey and perhaps to Italy, Albania, Yugoslavia and Greece. The United States certainly will require from us quantities of coarse grains this coming year for their extended livestock program. All in all, then, I for one say:—SOW ALL THE ACREAGE WE CAN IN WARTIME—LET US RUN NO RISKS.

Following factors have tended to decrease supply and increase demand:—Peru will have to import an estimated 7,500,000 to 8,000,000 bushels of wheat this year—Production of bread grain in the occupied countries of Europe has been further decreased—Mexico's wheat crop is estimated to have increased to 15,800,000 bushels but two to three million bushels must be imported.

Following factors have tended to increase supply and decrease demand:—The Argentine wheat surplus is officially estimated at 171,570,000 bushels. The second official estimate of Canada's grain crop is 507,888,000 bushels compared with 302,576,000 bushels last year—Britain's record crop has been harvested and farmers have been requested to increase wheat acreage by 25%.

TIME BOMBS!

It will take more than soft soap to clean up this world. It will take plenty of grit.

If you want to get the system out of a mess, first get the mess out of your system.

Canada must buckle down or she will buckle up.

We must either face the future with self-sacrifice or leave our children to face the music.

We hear some complaints about how "awful" the war-time restrictions are. But it's far better to have our own Government take away our privileges than to have the enemy take them away. These aren't the awful things. It's the things that are happening in Greece and Poland, and France, and Holland, and Norway that are awful.

"He who would climb a tree," said Thackeray, "must grasp its branches—not the blossoms."

SUGAR BANKS WILL #### MAKE CLEARANCE

Cleared through the ration offices of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board are retail invoices for sugar signed by farmers making provisions for themselves.

"These sugar invoices should not be sent to wholesalers," C. G. McKee, regional supervisor of rationing, reminds storekeepers. All invoices for extra amounts of sugar supplied to farmers during the October threshing season should be sent directly to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Williamson Building, Edmonton, or Burnham Building, Calgary. The Board will in turn issue a special purchase permit to each merchant to be used when he replenishes his stock at the wholesale.

CLAIM CANADIANS

FAIL TO SEE NEED

Canadian Government officials are "chumb" because they fail to realize the importance of development of a supply of oil in Western Canada to make the Alberta to Alaska highway of paramount service to the war effort according to an article in the Out Bank (Montana) Pioneer.

"Oil is desperately necessary for any armed force operating from Alaska and we have neither the petroleum products available nor the tankers or tank cars for their transportation to supply a large armed force in Alaska," the newspaper quotes a report made to the government by Representative W. J. Cole.

The Bomber Press in England

Altogether, the Canadian editors met the guiding genius of Canada's overseas forces three times, the first time just before we began our itinerary in England, the second time at an inspection of new equipment, and the third time just before we left for home.

Some people seem to think that the editors were only told part of the story, that something was hidden from us, or if we actually did see everything that we were told not to say anything about it. If these people could have been present at these meetings, they would realize just how far from correct their thoughts are. In General McNaughton's own words, the editors were told to "tell the people of Canada everything that will not give comfort to the enemy."

Actually the trip itself came as a result of a suggestion from the General that it would be an excellent way to bring a true picture to the people of Canada of what is going on overseas.

Naturally the location of General McNaughton's Headquarters is not easy for strangers to find. Our bus proceeded to a "rendezvous," where we were met by dispatch riders on motorcycles who guided us in to the place. The meeting was held in a large conference room, from the windows of which was a vista of peaceful English countryside.

General McNaughton brought a chair and sat down, but soon he was sitting on top of the desk in a most informal manner.

Welcoming the Canadian editors, the general said that with young men away from Canada for months and years, everything should be done to keep up their contacts with their own country. When they were out of touch, they are out of sympathy, and things go wrong, and it is difficult to find the reason. "Go back and interpret us to the people of Canada. We in the army are the expression of the purpose of the people in Canada."

He went on to say that we are up against an extremely serious business. We started with a tremendous lack of preparation, and are not out of the woods yet, but in spite of all that, we are now on the up-grade. The mission of the press is to tell fully what is going on, and the people will give their backing—materially and morally. The General believes in telling everything that can be told without hurting Allied cause.

Speaking of the Dieppe raid, General McNaughton said that his uppermost feeling was pride in our officers and men. Replying to other questions, the General said that shipping was one of our greatest limiting factors; that the threat of invasion is not over; that the young officer policy would be continued; that the average age of Lieut.-Colonels now is about 33, which is much younger than in the last war.

The last conference with General

McNaughton was just as informal, and was more like a friendly fire-side chat. It opened in a mess room at headquarters, with the General sitting on the broad sill of a bay window with the editors grouped around him while all partook of afternoon tea.

After talking in a conversational manner about many matters, including shipping problems, the manufacture of weapons, especially those made in Canada, transatlantic air transport, training and equipping of troops, food and army medical services, he suddenly leaned forward and asked, "Would you boys like to come upstairs with me?" He then led the way upstairs to his office.

Here the conversation was resumed for some time. After about an hour and a half had been spent in this way, an officer entered with a note and General McNaughton said he would have to confer with a visiting American officer but that if the editors cared to return later he would be glad to talk further with them.

Rising, he shook hands with each one as they left.

General McNaughton is tall, lean, and speaks in a quiet, confident tone that shows that he knows just what he is talking about. One cannot help but be impressed with his quiet, kindly manner, which at the same time shows his tremendous energy and ability. He is just as outstanding in his job as Prime Minister Churchill is in his.

Canadians may well feel confident that their army is in the best hands as General McNaughton remains at its head.

General McNaughton is a native of Saskatchewan, born there in 1887. He received his Master's degree in science from McGill University and studied at the Royal Staff College, and the Imperial Defence College in England. He served in the last war, and was wounded twice. He received the Distinguished Service Order, the Order of St. Michael and St. George, and many other honours.

He was for several years head of the National Research Council of Canada, and from 1929 to 1936 was Chief of the Canadian General Staff. He was given command of the first mission of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and since 1940 has been Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Army Overseas.

Canadians have every reason to feel proud of General McNaughton. There are three kinds of people in all organizations. They are the rowboat people, the sailboat people, and the steamboat people. The rowboat people always need to be pushed or shoved along. The sailboat people move along when a favorable wind is blowing. But the steamboat people move along continuously, through calm or storm. They are masters of themselves and their surroundings.

NO MAN IS INDISPENSABLE

I care not what your place may be—
A job that's most laborious,
With mighty little salary,
Or one that's fat and glorious!
But, be your labour great or small,
Of this you may be sensible—
Some other man can do it all;
No man is indispensable!

When you begin to swell with pride,
And cater to the gallery,
And put on lots of "dog" and "side,"
Because they've raised your salary;
Why, then, s'the time you'll tumble quick,
Such ways are indefensible;
Some other man can do your trick;
No man is indispensable!

It's well enough to know your worth,
And just what to do with it,
But don't imagine that the earth
Will quit when you are through with it;
No, it will race upon its way,
And—what seems reprehensible—
Some other man will draw your pay;
No man is indispensable!

SOME MARK TWAIN "DON'TS"

Don't attempt to punish all your enemies at once.
You can't do a large business with a small capital.

Don't say, "I told you so." Two to one you never said a word about it.

Don't worry about another man's business. A little selfishness is some times commendable.

Don't imagine you can correct all the evils in the world. A grain of sand is not very prominent in a desert.

Don't mourn over fancied grievances. Bide your time and real sorrow will come to you.

Don't throw dust in your teacher's eyes. It will only injure the pupil.

Don't borrow a coach to please your wife. Better make her a little sulky.

Don't publish your acts of charity. The Lord will keep the account straight.

Do not judge the faults of others until you have cleansed your own system.

Dear Lord,
You gave Your Son to save the world.
You didn't count the cost.
In blood and sacrifice;

You gave Your Son that we might live,
Dear Lord,
Can I do less?
I give the world my son
That he may help to save
The things for which Your Son
So nobly died.

If, when the Victory's won, Dear God,
And You send back my son,
I'll press him to my breast and thank You, Lord,
And if he goes to join Your Son
I'll understand;

And, through my tears, rejoice
To know that my son and the Son of God
Go hand in hand—

Hints for the Household

One way you can do your bit in the Government's all-out campaign against food waste is to serve left-overs so tempting and appetizing that they will be devoured to the last crumb.

When you tackle the assignment of glamorizing refrigerator left-overs into eye-appealing, appetizing main dishes, it's always winning strategy to call on quick-cooking tapicoca for help. Croquettes are efficient meat-extenders that will rate equally high on the score of taste appeal if you use tapicoca as a binder. By holding moisture, tapicoca can be counted on to work wonders in keeping the croquettes tender, juicy and snappy.

Thrifty Souffle

3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapicoca
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup left-over soup, of consistency of puree

1 cup cooked well-seasoned chopped vegetables or meat
3 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored

3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Combine quick-cooking tapicoca, salt and soup in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water.

Place 5 to 10 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently. Add vegetables or meat. Cool slightly while beating eggs. Add egg yolks and mix well. Fold in egg whites.

Turn into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven 350° F., 50 minutes, or until souffle is firm. Serves 6.

Chicken Croquettes

3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapicoca
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika

2 tablespoons minced green pepper
2 tablespoons minced pimiento
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup chicken stock

1 1/2 cups chopped cooked chicken
Sift bread and cracker crumbs 1 egg, beaten with 3 tablespoons milk and dash of salt.

Combine quick-cooking tapicoca, salt, paprika, green pepper, pimiento, milk and stock in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 8 to 10 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently.

Add chicken and mix thoroughly. Chill. Shape into cones. Roll in crumbs, dip in egg mixture, then roll again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat (300° F.) 1 minute, or until golden brown. Drain. Makes 8.

QUICK-FROZEN VEGETABLES

MAKE PATRIOTIC MEATLESS MENUS EASY

Vegetable plates co-starred with eggs, milk and cheese are a good answer to the Government's S.O.S. for reduced-meat consumption. The extra emphasis on vegetables won't mean extra kitchen duty if you take advantage of quick-frozen vegetables. You can rush home from Red Cross or a defence job at six o'clock, hang up your hat, and turn out a delicious all-star vegetable dinner in twenty minutes. Just take the quick-frozen vegetables out of their cartons and pop them into boiling, salted water. All the tedium of cleaning, sorting, trimming and washing was disposed of before quick-freezing sealed in their full quota of vitamins and minerals, along with fresh flavor. And they cook in only half the time of other vegetables, too.

Cream soups, eggs as a mainstay or in a custard dessert, milk puddings and cheese in any form, are good additions to the all-vegetable menu.

Spinach in Cream

1 box (14 oz.) quick-frozen spinach
1 cup boiling water, salted
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1 tablespoon flour
2/3 cup light cream
1/2 teaspoon salt

Dash of pepper and nutmeg
Drop frozen spinach into briskly boiling salted water. Bring again to a boil and boil 4 to 6 minutes, or until just tender, separating leaves with fork during cooking. Drain and chop.

Combine butter and flour in saucepan and stir to a smooth paste. Add cream gradually and stir until thickened, stirring constantly. Add spinach and seasonings and heat. Serve at once. Serves 4 to 6.

Corn and Green Beans

In Cheese Sauce
1 box (10 oz.) quick-frozen corn, cooked
1 box (10 oz.) quick-frozen green beans, cooked

3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 cups milk

Melt butter in top of double boiler. Add flour and paprika and stir to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually and stir until thickened, stirring constantly. Add corn and beans and heat. Serve at once. Serves 4 to 6.

Minicornet Remond-Custard

1 round table
1 tablespoon cold water
1 pint milk, not canned
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup minicornet

Mix round-table according to directions in package. Melt butter in top of double boiler. Add flour and paprika and stir to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually and stir until thickened, stirring constantly. Add corn and beans and heat. Serve at once. Serves 4 to 6.

Two Timely Dessert Treats

Here are two desserts that are not only in step with the economic trend of today but are seasonable as well. If you are looking for healthy, delicious desserts that comply with this season of the year and also do not tax your sugar ration coupons too heavily, the recipes for the minicornet-custards below will prove particularly desirable. Either of the two would be exceptionally appropriate to lead a finishing touch to your Thanksgiving Day feast.

No eggs, no baking and no boiling are necessary, and desserts of this kind provide a very excellent method of supplying milk to the younger members of the household who dislike drinking plain milk.

Pumpkin Remond-Custard

(Serves 6)
1/2 cup plum butter
2 cups milk, not canned
1 cup canned pumpkin
1 package vanilla rennet powder
4 tablespoons brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon salt

Divide plum butter among 5 dessert glasses, placing about 2 tablespoons in the bottom of each. To the milk, add pumpkin which has been thoroughly mixed with brown sugar, spices and salt. Follow directions on package of vanilla rennet powder and pour, while still liquid, into des-

Medical authorities state that the Canadian industrial worker's expectancy of life is eight years less than that of the average man on the street because of the industrial hazards with which he comes into contact daily. On the average industrial workers in Canada are absent from work eight days per year because of sickness.

Industrial physicians declare that both accident and sickness figures can be substantially reduced if a few definite health rules are followed by plant managers.

Farmer's Wife, Welder, Christens Ship She Helped To Build

WIVES of Nova Scotia farmers and fishermen with their husbands dropped their peacetime pursuits to become builders of ships for Canada's merchant navy. One of these ships launched at the new Pictou, N.S. shipyard was christened "S.S. Victoria Park" by Mrs. Robert Fraser, a farm woman from nearby Sylvester, who, with her husband, had worked on this ship from the laying of the keel. Mrs. Fraser won the honor of sponsoring the ship in a drawing from tickets held by the shipyard workers. She is a welder in the shipyard and "boss" of the first band of women workers who took up shipbuilding duties this Fall. She and her husband drive back and forth from their farm daily. Within a short time of the launching, Mrs. Fraser got back into her overall working clothes to start work on a sister ship.

The "Victoria Park" was the first steel ship built in Nova Scotia since 1919 and the first built in Pictou, out of material largely processed in Nova Scotia and practically all from Empire material. It will be launched at the rate of one each month.

At the launching, Premier A. S. McMillan told the guests there that ships "constructed by Nova Scotians, out of material largely processed in Nova Scotia and practically all from Empire material, would be launched at the rate of one each month."

As the newly-launched "Victoria Park" lay in the stream ready for the cutters, the first plate for the keel of her successor was placed.

A USEFUL MEMENTO

During World War I, the Prince of Wales (now the Duke of Windsor) won the admiration of American soldiers by his kindly and democratic manner. After a friendly chat with the boys he would often end up by saying, "By the way, would you fellows like to have a good photograph of my father?"

When the Americans answered an enthusiastic "Yes" the Prince would reach into his pocket and bring forth a handful of shining new English florins, each, of course, impressed with the image of George V. Each of the boys received one of the coins—to spend or keep as a souvenir.

The Canadian Red Cross is Ready!

CONTINUATION OF
BRITISH WINTER

 fact: "No more repairs." In desperation I have mailed them to a friend who lives right up in the north of England, where she thinks she may be able to get a man to do something about it. What a business it all is! If this man can't help I suppose I shall be travelling off next week with an alarm clock strung round my neck—to make the effect still more picturesque. Stranger things than that will be happening, no doubt, before we're through.

This sounds like a moan, I know;
 but it's a justified one. Maudering as all these things are, the truly extraordinary part of it is that they are no worse. In the main, I suppose, most of these difficulties are no greater than the ordinary ones felt by folk living in really isolated places.
 But it makes one feel that a lot of spare time has been wasted in the past.

How is it, for instance, that I don't know how to repair a watch?
 I have a cousin who, in a strictly amateur capacity, not only knows how to repair a watch or a clock, but can design and actually make the latter.

Revival Needed
 Perhaps this war will revive the
 He has even copied my mackinaw (with some clever improvements) for himself, and done every stitch of it with help from anybody. The idea that a man should be helpless in about ninety percent of things is complete nonsense, of course. We know that now.

There is good news of the Truce.
 I have just put my head outside my door and heard the cat being told to leave the blackbird alone, as he is having his lunch; such lunch consisting of the bits left in the cat's saucer.
 Can you beat it?
